

No. 66 Lorong Bukit Setongkol 4,
Taman Cenderawasih,
25200 Ktn.

2 March 2006.

Dear: Members of Zonta Club of Kuantan,

I am Cheong Shin Yee — a Form 4 student from SMK Tanah Putih. I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Norway Malaysia Association and Zonta club of Kuantan for given the financial support from the Zonta Student Adoption Project.

My ambition is to be a lawyer. I choose lawyer as my ambition because I hope I can help the people to resolve their grievances and difficulties. Besides, I can build a strong camaraderie within the Law Department and will be greater understanding of the discipline via the study of Law. Furthermore, I can improve my communication skills. Hence, it is essential that I study hard now in order to realise this ambition.

Well, there is so much I could tell you. Once again, thank you so much for your kindness.

Yours sincerely,

Shin Yee

neong Shin Yee 481

A Day In My Life

It was Monday. The ringing sound of the clock beside my bed woke^{me} up at dawn. The air was extremely cold and I rubbed my hands against each other. I dragged myself lazily to the bathroom and immediately washed myself and put on my school uniform. I shuffled towards the dining table to savour the "sumptuous breakfast". My school bus arrived in front of the gate with a screech followed by the honking sound. I arrived at school at promptly seven o'clock.

At half past seven, morning assembly was held at the school hall. The Principle began by saying a few words of advice to us. After the assembly, we went back to the class and started our lessons until a quarter to two. All the students in my class stayed back after school to do some clearing work and keep our classroom spick and span.

Before we started our task, we divided ourselves into five groups. The first group was asked to decorate and put up some notices onto the notice board. The next group was cleaning the classroom and we had to get rid of old and unwanted stuff. My friends and I were in the first group. It was a hectic two hour experience. During that time, I exchanged small talk with my friends. After sharing some laughter, I went back to continue my task.

Our class teacher had taken some photographs and we^{would} put them into the folio of Moral subject. After that, all the students got ready to set back home. I was eager to go home for dinner with my beloved family. After dinner, my family and I enjoyed the whisper of the soft night breeze at the garden. Subsequently, I did some revision as usual and^{would} never hesitate to burn the midnight oil to achieve success, and soon came the end of the day.